OCULUS FOR BUSINESS

Key benefits for business

No PC. No wires. No limits.

Our industry-leading VR headset, Oculus Quest offers untethered freedom to move and interact with virtual environments. The device is ergonomically designed for comfort during long periods of wear, there are no distracting consumer features, and your company controls the content. We've built everything to ensure that your employees feel transported and stay immersed in their learning — so you can more quickly accomplish your mission-critical work.

Drive real impact and ROI with immersive collaboration and learning.

Whether you're bringing your team together to collaborate, onboarding new hires, developing L&D curricula, or teaching critical safety procedures, effective teamwork and training are essential to the health of your organization. With Oculus for Business, your employees can work and learn more effectively together in virtual meeting spaces where they can share screens, sketch out ideas on whiteboards, and visualize data. They'll have the opportunity to fully engage in each collaboration and learning experience and emerge more connected, knowledgeable, and confident. They'll also have the potential to contribute higher-quality work, retain information longer, and help drive better business results.

Keep your data secure and private.

The security of your IP and other company data is essential to your success. That's why we built Oculus for Business on our enterprise-grade infrastructure and adhere to stringent data security standards. The platform offers powerful account management and access control tools to safeguard your devices and software. It also uses strict data handling and security protocols to store headset data and ensure that you wholly own the data associated with your devices.

Get the support you need to stay productive.

Your business-critical technology needs to run smoothly so you can keep making progress toward your goals. Oculus for Business offers exceptional hardware and software support via chat, email, and phone. Products come with extended 24-month hardware warranties, and you can quickly exchange faulty devices to avoid interrupting your workflows.

Key features for business

Scalable
